

Nigerian Prince (9 for $9.95)

MVO: 'Ding ding' announced Lewis' inbox.

A Nigerian Prince needs help getting his fortune out of the country?

As Lewis pondered how one hundred million dollars would affect his relationship status, he noticed a KFC ad – nine pieces of Original Recipe for only nine-ninety-five?

"Shut up and take my money!" Lewis gasped, unable to believe his luck.

There'll be another Nigerian Prince, but there won't be another chance to score nine pieces of KFC for nine-ninety-five for a while.

Available Tuesdays at participating stores for a limited time.

The Movies ($5 Lunch Box)

MVO: The trailers hadn't even started, but Lisa was already on the edge of her seat, eyes glued to the screen... captivated by a KFC ad for the five-dollar Lunch box.

"Shut up and take my money!" she squealed, startling the couple on a first date.

As Lisa ran down the stairs, mouth watering, she realised she had just broken her own no-talking-in-the-movies-not-even-before-the-trailers rule.

"But I regret nothing," she thought as she strode towards her own Five Dollar Lunch box from KFC.

Limited time only at participating stores BEFORE 4PM!

Yoga (24 nuggets for $10)

MVO: Anne slowly breathed in and out, contorting into a handstand scorpion.

“Now the tree pose,” her yoga instructor cooed.

But Anne wasn’t listening, because a KFC ad outside demanded her attention – 24 nuggets for only ten dollars!?

“Shut up and take my money!” Anne exhaled over the sound of her tummy rumbling.

Those 24 nuggets for $10 would be hers!... just as soon as she finishes rolling her mat.

Limited time only at participating stores.
