MVO: And now, courtesy of betstar.com.au, Her Majesty the Queen's Australia Day Address.

'THE QUEEN': Citizens of the Commonwealth of Australia: let us celebrate The Lucky Country; a nation blessed with sun and sports — a land of bronzed athletes — strong and buffed like a young Dean Lukin, and hung like Phar Lap's dad.

Your luck in sport runs deep. From Rugby and Aussie Rules, to the more common codes of synchronised swilling and no holds-barred emu fighting.

And now with Warney boning Liz Hurley, your sportsmen have taken the term 'getting lucky' to a whole new level.

So as you salute your nation of sports and its legends; Boony, Thorpy, Cathy, K-Perk, Lay Lay, and cry salty tears of patriotic pride into your 9am Fosters, have a punt all you codgers, have a flutter diggers.

For it would be un-Australian and unlucky not to have a bet this Australia Day at betstar.com.au

Do gamble responsibly.
