ANNCR:	So, why the black hat all the time?
GUY:	I find it makes my head look thinner.
ANNCR:	Really?
GUY:	Yeah, the top of my head is a little wide, so I find if I wear a black hat it gives it a slimming effect.
ANNCR:	Yeah, it's really working.
GUY:	I know.
ANNCR:	Are you sure it's not because you're secretly balding?
GUY:	Uh... no, I'm not bald.. no.
ANNCR:	Can I just look under your.....?
GUY:	No, no, no, no, no... I'm might catch a cold.
ANNCR:	His animal: the black-capped capuchin. Find your animal at the Perth Zoo.

Cue	Audio
ANNCR:	So, tell us what it's like to have such tiny hands.
GUY:	Well, you know, I'm not much of a basketball player or anything.
ANNCR:	Probably not very good on the piano or guitar either?
GUY:	What do you think?
ANNCR:	How about with the ladies?
GUY:	Well, I try to say they're small but mighty. But I rarely get a chance to prove it.
ANNCR:	Do people ever take advantage of your tiny hands?
GUY:	Yeah I get asked to fish things out of the drain or the toilet.
ANNCR:	It seems like you're a little angry, does having small hands make you angry?
GUY:	((bleep)) ((bleep)).
ANNCR:	The small-clawed otter. Find your animal at the Perth Zoo.

ANNCR:	Well I can't help but notice, but you've gone totally grey.
TEEN MALE:	Yeah, everywhere.
ANNCR:	Everywhere?
TEEN MALE:	Everywhere.
ANNCR:	Some women find that distinguished.
TEEN MALE:	Yeah, some do. Most just find it creepy.
ANNCR:	In what way?
TEEN MALE:	You know, like, "ew, get away from me Grandad."
ANNCR:	That's no good.
TEEN MALE:	Yeah, I can't walk by a bowling club without getting whistled.
ANNCR:	I see.
TEEN MALE:	And my Auntie Jill hugs me a little longer than she should.
