

Asca 21st Radio

SFX:

We are at a 21st birthday party. The crowd is chanting for a speech

DAUGHTER:

Happy birthday to me! Well, today I'm 21 and officially an adult...

So I guess Daddy will have to find another 'special little girl'

DAD:

I've still got your sister!

(LAUGHTER)

Dad!

Anyway I'd like to thank my parents for having me

DAD:

Every night for ten years!

(LAUGHTER)

Stop being naughty Daddy. You know, I look at you tonight and I still remember the first words you ever said to me after you raped me...

DAD & DAUGHTER:

... don't tell Mum!

(HUGE LAUGHTER)

FVO:

If only it was this easy to get over childhood abuse.

For two million adult Australians, it isn't.

We can't change their past.

But together we can change their future.

ASCA Rugby Radio

SFX:

We're at a speech at a rugby club. There is much blokey heckling.

MAN:

And the winner of Best and Fairest... Phil Wiggins

GUY:

Jeez. Thanks to the rest of the boys of course. My band of brothers.

But I'd also like to tip me hat to Dad. As most of you know, Dad's been bashing me for years.

SHOUTS OF 'YOU HAD SOME SHINERS' AND LAUGHTER.

Now, I won't lie. The first time he busted my ribs it hurt like hell.

SHOUT OF 'LEARN TO DUCK!'

And when he kicked me I couldn't walk for a week.

'LEARN TO RUN!' THEN LAUGHTER

So I did learn to run. Like a bugger. As you saw on the field today!

MORE HOOTS

So this trophy's for my Dad. The Basher!

'THE BASHER!'

ASCA Birthday Radio

SFX:

We are at a family party. They laugh at everything that is being said.

MIDDLE AGED DAUGHTER:

Thanks everyone for coming to celebrate Mum's birthday. You know, daughters will always have special memories of their Mum... like when she told me what an ugly child I was.

MUM:

And you haven't changed a bit, dear (LAUGHTER)

DAUGHTER:

And how I'd ruined your life!

MUM:

I still wish you'd never been born! (LAUGHTER)

DAUGHTER:

Oh, remember when you'd come home drunk as a lord...

MUM:

... if I came home at all! (LAUGHTER)

DAUGHTER:

No wonder I'm such a slut. Happy Birthday Mum (CROWD TOASTS).

MUM:

Thanks. You stupid little bitch! (LAUGHTER)
